ON PATENTABILITY

Box No. V Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Yes: Claims	--
	No: Claims	1-27
Inventive step (IS)	Yes: Claims	--
	No: Claims	1-27
Industrial applicability (IA)	Yes: Claims	1-27
	No: Claims	--

2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7):

see separate sheet

Box No. VIII Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the question whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

see separate sheet

1 Reference is made to the following documents:

- D1: US-A-5 188 674 (KASICA JAMES J ET AL) 23 February 1993 (1993-02-23)
cited in the application
D2: US-A-5 547 513 (STONE JOEL A ET AL) 20 August 1996 (1996-08-20)

Item VIII:

2 Article 6 PCT:

- 2.1 The term "essentially" in claims 11 and 12 is vague and reason for lack of clarity.
- 2.2 Claims 20 - 24 are phrased as "product-by-process"-type claims. Products should be defined by their technical features and not by the process to manufacture them. Furthermore a product is not rendered novel merely because it was produced by a novel method.
- 2.3 Claim 23 does not meet the requirements of Article 6 PCT in that the matter for which protection is sought is not defined. The claim attempts to define the subject-matter in terms of the result to be achieved. The subject-matter should be defined in more concrete terms, viz. in terms of how the effect is to be achieved.

Item V:

3 Article 33(2) PCT:

- 3.1 The broadest claim is claim 20 which discloses a starch product containing less than 50 wt% amylose (Please refer to item 2.2 as well.). Starch with said amylose content is known from documents D1 - D2. Starch generally has said amylose content. Claim 20 is not novel.
- 3.2 D1 describes a process for jet-cooking and spray-drying starch (cf. claims 1, 5, 7 and 8). The starch (< 40% amylose, still partly lower than 50 wt%) is heated as an aqueous slurry in the jet cooker at 93 - 177 °C to form a solution which is then spray dried.

REPORT ON PATENTABILITY (SEPARATE SHEET)

International application No.

PCT/NL2004/000093

D1 is novelty destroying for the subject-matter of claims 1, 2, 6 - 8, 11, 13 - 24.

- 3.3 D2 uses starch containing more than 30% amylose which is heated in water to produce a solution in a jet cooker (cf. col. 4, li. 2 and 3; col. 5, li. 66 - col. 6, li. 9). The solution is dried or precipitated and dried. The obtained starch can be crystalline or gel-like. Drying is effected by spray-drying (col. 6, li. 64 - col. 7, li. 6 and col. 8, li. 11 - 16 and li. 48 - 51).

D2 is novelty destroying for claims 20 - 27.

4 Article 33(3) PCT:

- 4.1 None of the claims is considered to be inventive.

5 Article 33(4) PCT:

- 5.1 The subject-matter of the claims is industrially applicable.
